To find magazine, newspaper or scholarly articles regarding specific careers, search ProQuest, the Library’s web based periodical index. This database contains articles going back to 1986.

To find articles on a specific career, enter the name of the career AND the word “career.” For example, enter either of the following searches:

- accounting AND career
- account* AND career

The asterisk (*) is used as a truncation mark. In the second example, you would find all words beginning with the word stems, “account” and “career”. The AND requires that both terms be found in the article. Place quotation marks around words in a phrase as in “interior design.”

Use the Advanced search for additional search options.

Trade Journals for Specific Careers

Using ProQuest, click on the Publications tab at the top of the screen and enter a word or word stem such as architecture or architect to get a listing of the publication titles that include your career word.

Do an Advanced search to search for colleges by specific criteria. Also search the Resources tab at the top of the screen to find links to other college and career resources.
